I will talk to him.

I don't think it will be good enough if someone will come after us. We need to start taking disciplinary actions against people and put this on record. I can't keep getting on calls with regulators and explain why a 20 years old is putting the entire company at risk simply because we have no control on what he says (and I, personally, can't keep on policing these people and waste hours of my day day to listen to videos and then ask people to edit them, simply because no one listens)

And for the day someone may come and take all of our emails and WhatsApp, such things must be on record

And BTW - the first thing we should do is to prevent this information from getting to him.

Had a session with 10T. They want to join as part of WC ticket (50 out of the 250), but this basically means we're going through a DD again

I told them they cannot spend anyone's time and they can only get products from me or WC, as we wasted enough time in the past
